Asia Insurance Review

GEORGE KESSELMAN

President,
Insurtech Asia Association

InsurTech is the new world that has disrupted some of the biggest insurance markets in the world including Asia, where China is leading the development at unprecedented level.

Outside China, the biggest potential for adoption of InsurTech lies in Thailand. While Singapore provides InsurTech to thrive in a controlled environment, the real opportunity lies in Thailand as it strives to be the ASEAN InsurTech Hub. Given its market conditions and geographic location, it is in prime position to attract startups to their scale pilots and drive InsurTech.

This summit will bring key stakeholders in the industry together by deep diving into what it takes for InsurTech to take off in Thailand and also showcase the best and most promising startups in the region.
